P R E F A C E.

I HAVE spared no pains to make this Bibliography exhaustive as well as accurate. Like its predecessor, THE BIBLIOGRAPHY OF RUSKIN, it is arranged mainly, though not entirely, in chronological order; and includes all the accessible printed utterances of CHARLES DICKENS that have come under my notice; not merely his larger and smaller separate works, but his scattered and uncollected contributions to journals, magazines, annuals, and keepsakes, his Letters to newspapers and to friends, and his Speeches. No entry has been made at second-hand.

I cannot be sure that my enumeration of the uncollected Letters is absolutely complete, and I shall be greatly indebted to any correspondent who will send me supplementary data for that portion of the work. It should be understood that the letters must have been printed somewhere; that it is not within the scheme and scope of the present compilation to include autograph letters, unless deposited in some national Library or Museum.

I trust that the little work will prove useful to collectors and students, most of whom, I anticipate, will find some information in it that is new to them.

SKETCHES BY "BOZ," ILLUSTRATIVE OF EVERY-DAY
LIFE AND EVERY-DAY PEOPLE. In Two Volumes.
With sixteen illustrations by George Cruikshank.
London: John Macrone, St. James's-square.
1836.

The first volume (pp. viii. 348) contains The Parish, in six chapters; Miss Evans and "The Eagle;" Shops and their Tenants; Thoughts about People; A Visit to Newgate; London Recreations; The Boarding House, in two chapters; Hackney Coach Stands; Brokers and Marine Store Shops; The Bloomsbury Christening; Gin Shops; Public Dinners; Astley's; Greenwich Fair; The Prisoners' Van; A Christmas Dinner.

The second volume (pp. 342) contains Passage in the Life of Mr. Watkins Tottle, in two chapters; The Black Veil; Shabby-genteel People; Horatio Sparkins; The Pawnbroker's Shop; The Dancing Academy; Early Coaches; The River; Private Theatres; The Great Winglebury Duel; Omnibuses; Mrs. Joseph Porter; The Steam Excursion; Sentiment.

The Preface to these two volumes is dated "Furnival's Inn, February, 1836."

A second edition appeared in the same year, with a new preface, dated "Furnival's Inn, 1st August, 1836."

6

SKETCHES BY "BOZ," ILLUSTRATIVE OF EVERY-DAY
LIFE AND EVERY-DAY PEOPLE. The Second Series.
London: John Macrone. 1836, pp. viii. 375.

Containing The Streets by Morning; The Streets by Night; Making a Night of it; Criminal Courts; Scotland Yard; The

New Year; Meditations in Monmouth Street; Our Next Door Neighbours; The Hospital Patient; Seven Dials; The Mistaken Milliner; Doctors' Commons; Misplaced Attachment of Mr. John Dounce; Vauxhall Gardens by Day; A Parliamentary Sketch, with a few Portraits; Mr. Minns and his Cousin; The Last Cab Driver, and the First Omnibus Cad; The Parlour Orator; The First of May; The Drunkard's Death. With twelve illustrations by George Cruikshank.

The Preface to this third volume is dated "Furnival's Inn, December 17, 1836."

First Complete Edition of the Two Series, with forty illustrations by George Cruikshank. In twenty monthly parts, demy 8vo, commencing November, 1837, and ending June, 1839. Twenty-seven of the twenty-eight illustrations to the former editions—(one illustration, "The Free and Easy" in The Streets: Night, being cancelled)—were re-drawn and engraved to suit the larger-sized page of this edition. To these were added thirteen new etchings. There was also a design on the first page of the pink wrapper by George Cruikshank. Preface dated "May 15, 1839." London: Chapman and Hall, 186, Strand. 1839, pp. 526.

The First Series of the Sketches comprised, as we have seen (including six chapters of "Our Parish"), thirty-five articles. The Second Series comprised twenty articles. The Complete Edition included all the above, with one additional sketch, viz., "The Tuggs's at Ramsgate;" re-arranged under the headings,—Sketches from our Parish, 7; Scenes, 25; Characters, 12; and Tales, 12.

A new Preface, dated "London, October, 1850," was prefixed to the first cheap edition.

SUNDAY UNDER THREE HEADS: as it is; as Sabbath Bills would make it; as it might be made. By Timothy Sparks. Illustrated by H. K. B. London : Chapman and Hall. 1836, pp. v. 49.

"H. K. B." was Hablot K. Browne ("Phiz"), who was chosen to continue the illustrations to the Pickwick Papers after Seymour's death.

EARLY DRAMATIC PIECES.

as in title
of print THE STRANGE GENTLEMAN : A Comic Burletta in Two Acts. By "Boz." With etched frontispiece by "Phiz." Performed at the St. James's Theatre, September 29, 1836. London : Chapman and Hall. 1837, pp. 64, in wrapper.

Founded on one of the Sketches by Boz, entitled "The Great Winglebury Duel."

as in title
of print THE VILLAGE COQUETTES: A Comic Opera. In Two Acts. By Charles Dickens. The Music by John Hullah. London : Richard Bentley. 1836, pp. 71.

The Dedication to J. P. Harley is dated December 15, 1836.

10

IS SHE HIS WIFE? or, Something Singular: A Comic Burletta, in One Act. By Charles Dickens. Boston: James R. Osgood & Co. 1877, pp. 80.

First performed at the St. James's Theatre, Monday, March 6, 1837.

11

THE LANPLIGHTER: A Farce. By Charles Dickens (1838). Now first printed from a manuscript in the Forster Collection at the South Kensington Museum. London: 1879, pp. 45, in wrapper.

Only 250 copies privately printed. This farce was withdrawn and never acted.

“He wrote a farce by way of helping the Covent Garden manager, which the actors could not agree about, and which he turned afterwards into a story called The Lamplighter. He read the piece at the theatre before the same stage manager to whom he had written to request a very different audience in the same green-room a few years before; and Dickens could not but fancy that into Mr. Bartley's face, as he listened to the humorous reading, there crept some strange bewildered half-consciousness that in the famous writer he saw again the youthful would-be actor.”—FORSTER'S Life of Dickens, vol. i, pp. 12-1.

THE POSTHUMOUS PAPERS OF THE PICKWICK CLUB. Being a faithful Record of the Perambulations, Perils, Travels, Adventures, and Sporting Transactions of the Corresponding Members. Edited by "Boz." With forty-three illustrations by R. Seymour, Buss, and "Phiz" (Hablot K. Browne). In twenty monthly parts, commencing April, 1836, and ending November, 1837 (Parts 19 and 20 forming a double number).* London: Chapman and Hall, 186, Strand. 1837, pp. xvi. 609.

The Dedication to Serjeant Talfourd is dated "48, Doughty-street, September 27, 1837."

The first two numbers contained each only 24 pages of letterpress, the first contained four and the second three illustrations by Seymour, who died suddenly April 20, 1836, while the second number was in preparation. The third and succeeding numbers contained each 32 pages of letterpress, with only two illustrations. Those in the third number were originally executed by a Mr. Buss, but his plates were replaced in later issues of the number by two different designs executed by Mr. Hablot Browne ("Phiz"), who illustrated the remainder of this and many subsequent works of Charles Dickens. The original green wrapper had a design by Seymour, representing scenes of fishing and shooting, and groups of sporting implements. Part ii. contained a notice respecting Seymour's death. Part x. an "Address" from the author to his readers, dated "December, 1836," and Part xv. another "Address," dated "186, Strand, June 30, 1837."

The first cheap Edition contains a new Preface, dated "London, September, 1847." This Preface was considerably amplified in the "Charles Dickens" edition (Chapman and Hall, 1867, pp. xii. 497).

* No number was issued for June, 1837. The fourteenth number bears date "May, 1837" and the fifteenth "July, 1837:" the publication was suspended during that interval through a severe shock which the author received from the death of a younger sister of his wife (Mary Hogarth).

OLIVER TWIST; OR, THE PARISH BOY'S PROGRESS.

Commenced in the second number of Bentley's Miscellany, in February, 1837, and concluded in March, 1839. Published in three volumes, post 8vo, in advance of its completion in the Miscellany, in October, 1838, with twenty-four illustrations by George Cruikshank.* London: Richard Bentley, New Burlington-street. 1838.

A Third Edition was issued with "the Author's Preface to the Third Edition," dated "Devonshire Terrace, April, 1841." 3 vols. 8vo. London: Chapman and Hall. 1841.

* The last of these illustrations—Rose Maylie and Oliver—as it appeared in the early copies, was objected to by the author, and was designed afresh at his request. "The publication had been announced for October," says Mr. Forster, "but the third-volume illustrations intercepted it a little. This part of the story had been written in anticipation of the magazine; and the designs for it, having to be executed in a lump, were necessarily done somewhat hastily. The matter supplied in advance of the monthly portions in the magazine formed the bulk of the last volume; and for this the plates had to be prepared by Cruikshank, also in advance of the magazine, to furnish them in time for the separate publication. None of these Dickens had seen until he saw them in the book on the eve of its publication, when he so strongly objected to one of them that it had to be cancelled. 'I returned suddenly to town yesterday afternoon,' he wrote to the artist at the end of October, 'to look at the latter pages of Oliver Twist before it was delivered to the booksellers, when I saw the majority of the plates in the last volume for the first time. With reference to the last one—Rose Maylie and Oliver—I am quite sure there can be little difference of opinion between us with respect to the result. May I ask you whether you will object to designing this plate afresh, and doing so at once, in order that as few impressions as possible of the present one may go forth?'"

FORSTER'S Life of Dickens.

Edition in One Volume. Issued with the same plates as the former editions, in ten monthly parts, demy 8vo, uniform with Pickwick, commencing January, 1846. The first page of the green wrapper was from a design by George Cruikshank, and depicted eleven scenes (mostly different from those represented in the body of the work), illustrating incidents in the novel, pp. 311. London: published for the Author by Bradbury and Evans, Whitefriars, 1846.

The first cheap Edition contains a new Preface, dated "Devonshire Terrace, March, 1850." This Preface was considerably modified and abridged in the "Charles Dickens" edition (Chapman and Hall, 1867, pp. viii. 258), and a new paragraph was added at the end.

Contributions to Bentley's Miscellany, 1837-1839.

London: Richard Bentley, New Burlington-street.

Vol i.

pp. 49-63. Public Life of Mr. Tulrumble, once Mayor of Mudfog. (Signed "Boz.") With an illustration by George Cruikshank. January, 1837.

„ 291-297. Stray Chapters by "Boz." Chapter 1. The Pantomime of Life. March, 1837.

pp. 515-518. Stray Chapters by "Boz." Chapter 2. Some particulars concerning a Lion. May, 1837.

Editor's Address on the Completion of the First Volume, signed "Boz," and dated "London, June, 1837."

Vol. ii.

pp. 397-413. Full Report of the First Meeting of the Mudfog Association for the Advancement of Everything. Signed "Boz." October, 1837.

Address, signed "Boz," and dated "30th November, 1837."

Vol. v.

pp. 219-220. Familiar Epistle from a Parent to a Child aged two years and two months, signed "Boz." February, 1839

15

SKETCHES OF YOUNG GENTLEMEN. Dedicated to the Young Ladies. With six Illustrations by "Phiz" [H. K. Browne], small 8vo. London: Chapman and Hall. 1838, pp. viii. 76.

16

SKETCHES OF YOUNG COUPLES; with an urgent Remonstrance to the Gentlemen of England (being Bachelors or Widowers), on the present alarming crisis. By the Author of "Sketches of Young Gentlemen." With six Illustrations by "Phiz" [H. K. Browne]. London: Chapman and Hall. 1840, pp. 92 (including title and half-title).

17

THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF NICHOLAS NICKLEBY. With 39 illustrations by Phiz; and Portrait of the Author after Maclise, engraved by Finden. In twenty monthly parts, demy 8vo, commencing April, 1838, and ending October, 1839,—parts 19 and 20 forming a double number, pp. xvi. 624. Inscribed to W. C. Macready. London: Chapman and Hall, 186, Strand. 1839.

Nicholas Nickleby was heralded by a mock "Proclamation" of three pages demy 8vo, signed "Boz," and dated "February 28, 1838," which will be found stitched in old reviews and magazines of that date.

The first cheap Edition contains a new Preface, dated "Devonshire Terrace, May, 1848."

MEMOIRS OF JOSEPH GRIMALDI. Edited by "Boz."

With twelve illustrations by George Cruikshank.

In two volumes, post 8vo, pp. xix. 288; pp. ix.

263. London: Richard Bentley, 1838.

The Preface is dated "Doughty-street, February, 1838."

This Memoir was only edited by Charles Dickens, not written by him.

19

Notice of Mr. John Gibson Lockhart's pamphlet

"The Ballantyne Humbug handled." Printed in

The Examiner of March 31, 1839.

Allusion is made in this notice to a previous one of Ballantyne's Refutation. There is a notice of the "Reply to Mr. Lockhart's pamphlet" in The Examiner of September 29, 1839.

Written and printed in the Examiner, "to express publicly," says Mr. Forster, "his hearty sympathy with Lockhart's handling of some passages in his admirable Life of Scott that had drawn down upon him the wrath of the Ballantynes."

Notice of Hood's "Up the Rhine." Printed in The Examiner.

"I find him noticing, in the Examiner, a book by Thomas Hood ('Up the Rhine'): 'rather poor, but I have not said so, because Hood is too, and ill besides.'"—FORSTER'S Life of Dickens (ed. 1876, vol. i., p. 121).

MASTER HUMPHREY'S CLOCK. With illustrations on wood by George Cattermole and H. K. Browne; George Cruikshank and Daniel Maclise. In eighty-eight weekly numbers, imperial 8vo, commencing April 4, 1840, and ending November 27, 1841, and in twenty monthly parts,—forming three volumes. Vol. i., pp. iv. 306; vol. ii., pp. vi. 306; vol. iii., pp. vi. 426. London: Chapman and Hall, 186, Strand. 1840-41.

The Old Curiosity Shop began at page 37 of the first volume, and continued, with occasional interruptions in its early part from the intercalary Pickwickian and other chapters, to page 223 of the second volume.

[The first cheap Edition of The Old Curiosity Shop contained a new Preface, dated "London, September, 1848."]

Barnaby Rudge began at page 229 of the second volume, and was finished with its 82nd chapter at page 420 of the third volume, after which the Clock was wound up by a closing chapter from Master Humphrey (pp. 421-426).

[The first cheap Edition of Barnaby Rudge contained a new Preface, dated "London, March, 1849."]

The first volume of Master Humphrey's Clock was dedicated to Samuel Rogers, and the Preface was dated "Devonshire Terrace, September, 1840." The Preface of the second volume was dated "Devonshire Terrace, March, 1841;" and the Preface of the third and concluding volume, "Devonshire Terrace, November, 1841."

THE FINE OLD ENGLISH GENTLEMAN. New version (to be said or sung at all Conservative dinners). A squib in verse, of eight stanzas, forty-eight lines. Printed in The Examiner, Saturday, August 7, 1841, p. 500.

Seven of the eight stanzas of this squib are quoted by Mr. Forster in the twelfth chapter of Book ii. of his Life of Dickens. Mr. Forster professes to give it entire, and states that it "had no touch of personal satire in it," and that Dickens "would himself, for that reason, have least objected to its revival." The stanza omitted by Mr. Forster is the sixth, which runs thus:—

"Those were the days for taxes, and for war's infernal din;
For scarcity of bread, that fine old dowagers might win;
For shutting men of letters up, through iron bars to grin,
Because they didn't think the Prince was altogether thin,
In the fine old English Tory times;
Soon may they come again!"

23

THE QUACK DOCTOR'S PROCLAMATION. (Tune: "A Cobbler there was.") A squib in verse, of nine stanzas, thirty-six lines. Printed in The Examiner, Saturday, August 14, 1841, p. 517.

Three stanzas of this squib are quoted by Mr. Forster in his Life of Dickens, Book ii., § 12.

24

SUBJECTS FOR PAINTERS. After Peter Pindar. A squib in rhyme, seventy lines. Printed in The Examiner, Saturday, August 21, 1841, p. 532.

A few stanzas of this squib are quoted by Mr. Forster in his Life of Dickens, Book ii., § xii.

"He sent me some rhymed squibs as his anonymous contribution to the fight the Liberals were then making against what was believed to be intended by the return to office of the Tories. I doubt if he ever enjoyed anything more than the power of thus taking part occasionally, unknown to outsiders, in the sharp conflict the press was waging at the time."—FORSTER'S Life of Dickens, ed. 1876, vol. i., pp. 186-187.

25

THE LAMPLIGHTER'S STORY.—Printed in The Pic Nic Papers by various hands, edited by Charles Dickens, Esq. London: Henry Colburn. 1841. Vol. i., pp. 1-32.

26

Circular Letter on International Copyright with America, dated "Devonshire Terrace, July 7, 1842," and signed "Charles Dickens."

This letter, in printed form, was sent to all the principal English authors then living. It was reprinted in extenso in the Morning Chronicle of Thursday, July 14, in the Athenæum and Examiner of July 16, 1842, and doubtless in other leading journals.

Prologue to Mr. Westland Marston's Play, "The Patrician's Daughter." Written by Mr. Charles Dickens, and spoken by Mr. Macready. (48 lines.) Printed in The Theatrical Journal and Stranger's Guide, No. 157, Saturday, December 17, 1842 (Vol. iii., p. 407).

This Prologue was not printed in extenso in any of the newspapers, nor with the play itself, which indeed had been published in the previous year (1841), before it was produced on the stage. It appears, with some variations from the above version, in the first volume of the recently-published collection of Charles Dickens's Letters (pp. 77-78).

28

AMERICAN NOTES for General Circulation. By Charles Dickens. In Two Volumes, post 8vo, pp. xvi. 308; vii. 306. London: Chapman and Hall, 186, Strand. 1842.

The first cheap Edition contained a new Preface, dated "London, June 22, 1850."

29

To the Editor of the Times.—Letter dated “Devonshire Terrace, Sunday, Jan. 15,” and signed “Charles Dickens.”—Printed in The Times, Monday, January 16, 1843.

In contradiction of a statement made in a notice of American Notes (by Mr. James Spedding), published in the Edinburgh Review of January, 1843.

30

THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT—his Relations, Friends, and Enemies. Comprising all his wills and his ways: with an Historical Record of what he did and what he didn't; showing, moreover, who inherited the family plate, who came in for the silver spoons, and who for the wooden ladles: the whole forming a complete Key to the House of Chuzzlewit. Edited by Boz. With 40 illustrations by H. K. Browne. In twenty monthly parts, demy 8vo, commencing January, 1843, and ending July, 1844,—parts 19 and 20 forming a double number. One volume, pp. xiv. 624. Dedicated to Miss Burdett Coutts.

C

Preface dated "London, June 25, 1844." London: Chapman and Hall. 1844.

 and Clarkson Stanfield.

Published Christmas, 1846.

43

DEALINGS WITH THE FIRM OF DOMBEY AND SON, WHOLESALE, RETAIL, AND FOR EXPORTATION. With forty illustrations by H. K. Browne. In twenty monthly parts, demy 8vo, commencing October, 1846, and ending April, 1848, parts 19 and 20
forming a double number.

Dedicated to the Marchioness of Normanby, with Preface dated "Devonshire Terrace, March 24, 1848." One volume, pp. xvi. 624. London: Bradbury and Evans, 1848.

44

Facts and Figures from Italy. By Don Jeremy Savonarola, Benedictine Monk, addressed during the last two winters to Charles Dickens, Esq., being an Appendix to his "Pictures." London:
Richard Bentley, 1847, pp. 309, besides title and separate leaf of "Notice."

NOTICE.

Having engaged the Father who signs himself "D. J.
Savonarola," to enter on this correspondence, it only remains for me to say that these are his Letters. CHARLES DICKENS.

Broadstairs, Kent, July 1, 1847.

The volume concludes with a "Poetical Epistle from Savonarola to Boz," dated Genoa, December 14, 1837. This had already appeared in Bentley's Miscellany, January, 1838, with the title of "Poetical Epistle from Father Prout to 'Boz,'" under Dickens's editorship, and enables us to assign the authorship of the whole volume to Father Prout.

45

Notice of "The Drunkard's Children," a Sequel to "The Bottle," in eight plates, by George Cruikshank.—Examiner, July 8, 1848, p. 436.

46

Notice of "The Rising Generation," a series of twelve drawings on stone, by John Leech.—Examiner, December 30, 1848, p. 838.

47

THE HAUNTED MAN AND THE GHOST'S BARGAIN. A Fancy for Christmas Time. With frontispiece and title engraved on wood after John Tenniel, and fourteen other woodcut illustrations by C. Stanfield, R.A., John Leech, Frank Stone, and John Tenniel, foolscap 8vo, pp. 188. London: Bradbury and Evans. 1848.

Published Christmas, 1848.

The five Christmas books were collected into a single volume in 1852, with a new Preface, dated "London, September, 1852."

THE PERSONAL HISTORY, ADVENTURES, EXPERIENCE, AND OBSERVATION OF DAVID COPPERFIELD, THE YOUNGER, OF BLUNDERSTONE ROOKERY. Which he never meant to be published on any account. With forty illustrations by H. K. Browne. In twenty monthly parts, demy 8vo, commencing May, 1849, and ending November, 1850,—parts 19 and 20 forming a double number. Inscribed to the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watson of Rockingham. Preface dated “London, October, 1850,” pp. xvi. 624. London: Bradbury and Evans. 1850.

In the “Charles Dickens” edition the Preface was considerably altered, and a new paragraph added at the end.

To the Editor of the Times.—Letter dated “Devonshire-terrace, Tuesday, Nov. 13,” and signed “Charles Dickens.”—Times, Wednesday, November 14, 1849.

A description of the scene at the execution of the Mannings.

50

A Preliminary Word.—Household Words, March 30, 1850 (vol. i., pp. 1-2).

51

The Guild of Literature and Art.—Household Words, May 10, 1851 (vol. iii., pp. 145-147).

52

One Man in a Dockyard.—Household Words, September 6, 1851 (vol. iii., pp. 553-557).

This was a joint article by Charles Dickens and R. H. Horne, who was a frequent contributor to the early volumes of Household Words. Horne wrote the description of the works of the dockyard, and Dickens of the fortifications and country scenery round about. (See "Recollections of Contemporaries," appended to Letters of Elizabeth Barrett Browning addressed to R. H. Horne, edited by S. R. Townshend Mayer. London: Bentley, 1877, vol. ii., pp. 271-273.)

What Christmas is, as we grow older.—Extra number for Christmas, 1851, of Household Words, a Weekly Journal, conducted by Charles Dickens,* pp. 1-3.

* The series of Household Words forms nineteen volumes of 620 pages each, apart from Title and Index. The first number is dated Saturday, March 30, 1850, and the 479th and last, Saturday, May 28, 1859. Dickens's contributions to the other Christmas numbers are enumerated further on. The above has never been reprinted.

MR. NIGHTINGALE'S DIARY: A Farce in One Act.

By Charles Dickens. Boston: James R. Osgood and Co., 1877, pp. 96.

First performed at Devonshire House, London, 1851. Partly written by Mark Lemon (see Forster, ii., 84, 1876 ed., where it is called "a joint piece of authorship"). There exists, we believe, a privately-printed English edition, issued at the time of its first performance, but not easily accessible.

55

TO BE READ AT DUSK. By Charles Dickens. Printed in The Keepsake, edited by Miss Power, for 1852. London: David Bogue. 8vo, pp. 117-131.

A short story in prose.

56

A CHILD'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND. By Charles Dickens.

Vol. I. England from the ancient times to the death of King John. 1852, pp. xi. 210.

Vol. II. England from the reign of Henry III. to the reign of Richard III. 1853, pp. viii. 214.

Vol. III. England from the reign of Henry VII. to the Revolution of 1688. 1854, pp. viii. 321.

Three volumes, small square 8vo. London : Bradbury and Evans, 1852-1854. Each volume contains a frontispiece by F. W. Topham.

Divided here into thirty-seven chapters, but originally into forty-five, which first appeared at irregular intervals in Household Words. The first chapter appeared in the number for January 25, 1851 (vol. ii., p. 409), and the last in the number for December 10, 1853 (vol. viii. p. 360).

57

✓ BLEAK HOUSE. With forty illustrations by H. K. Browne. In twenty monthly parts, demy 8vo, commencing March, 1852, and ending September, 1853,—parts 19 and 20 forming a double number. Preface dated, “London, August, 1853,” pp. xvi. 624. London: Bradbury and Evans. 1853.

58

Trading in Death.—On the State Funeral of the Duke of Wellington.—Household Words, November 27, 1852 (vol. vi., pp. 241-245).

59

Frauds on the Fairies.—Household Words, October 1, 1853 (vol. viii., pp. 97-100).

60

HARD TIMES. For these Times. By Charles Dickens. London: Bradbury and Evans, 1854, pp. viii. 352. [Divided into Three Books.]

Inscribed to Thomas Carlyle.

Originally published in weekly instalments in Household Words (vol. ix.), commencing April 1, and concluding August 12, 1854.

61

The late Mr. Justice Talfourd.—Household Words, March 25, 1854 (vol. ix., pp. 117-118).

62

By Rail to Parnassus.—Household Words, June 16, 1855 (vol. xi., pp. 477-480).

A delightful notice of Leigh Hunt's Stories in Verse. The writer is supposed to be a poor clerk out of employment, travelling from Waterloo-road to Southampton to present himself to the firm of Heavahoy Brothers, who buys the volume at the railway-stall and reads it on the journey.

"During Leigh Hunt's life, and after the publication of Bleak House, Charles Dickens wrote a most genial paper about him in Household Words."—Edmund Ollier in the Daily News, Saturday, June 11, 1870.

LITTLE DORRIT. With 40 illustrations by H. K. Browne. In 20 monthly parts, commencing

December, 1855, and ending June, 1857,—parts 19 and 20 forming a double number. Dedicated to Clarkson Stanfield. Preface dated “London, May, 1857,” pp. xiv. 625. London: Bradbury and Evans. 1857.

64

A Nightly Scene in London. Household Words, January 26, 1856 (vol. xiii., pp. 25-27).

65

HYMN of five stanzas (20 lines), commencing “Hear my prayer, O heavenly Father,” printed in “The Wreck of the Golden Mary,” the extra Christmas number of Household Words for Christmas, 1856, p. 21.

Mr. Forster (Life of Dickens, ed. 1876, vol. ii., p. 468) refers to and quotes a letter from Charles Dickens to the Rev. R. H. Davies, of Chelsea, respecting this hymn. “The letter referred to,” writes Mr. Davies to the present editor, “was in reply to one from me to C. D. thanking him on religious grounds for the publication of the hymn. He told me he was much obliged for my letter, and was the more gratified because he wrote the hymn himself. I gave the letter to a friend. He sent it to Forster. I wish I had not given it away. Had I sent it to Forster he would have made it of more interest, as I should have told him how it came to be written. My friend is dead, and I do not know what is become of the letter.”

VIE ET AVENTURES DE NICOLAS NICKLEBY. Traduit avec l'autorisation de l'Auteur par P. Lorain. Paris : Hachette, 1857.

Contains an Address of the English author to the French public, extending to two pages, and dated "Tavistock House, January 17, 1857."

67

Curious Misprint in the Edinburgh Review.—Household Words, August 1, 1857 (vol. xvi., pp. 97-100).

A retort upon the notice of Little Dorrit published in the Edinburgh Review of July, 1857, under the title of The License of Modern Novelists. It relates to the Circumlocution Office and Sir Rowland Hill, and to the fall of houses in Tottenham-court-road, which the reviewer had declared to have suggested the catastrophe in Little Dorrit.

THE LAZY TOUR OF TWO IDLE APPRENTICES. Printed in Household Words, October, 1857 (vol. xvi., pp. 313, 337, 361, 385, 409).

"To the first of these papers Dickens contributed all up to the top of the second column of page 316; to the second, all up to the white line in the second column of page 340; to the third, all except the reflections of Mr. Idle (363-5); and the whole of the fourth part. All the rest was by Mr. Wilkie Collins."—FORSTER.

69

The Case of the Reformers of the Literary Fund : stated by Charles W. Dilke, Charles Dickens, and John Forster. London : 1858, pp. 16.

70

PERSONAL.—Household Words, June 12, 1858 (vol. xvii., p. 601).

This is the famous statement respecting his separation from his wife.

71

ADDITIONAL ERRATA IN FIRST VOLUME.

1833. Narrative, page 7, third paragraph, for "Rev. Thomas Barham" read "Rev. R. H. Barham."

Page 299, line 13, for "W. H. H." read "W. H. W."

Two letters to Mr. George Cattermole are wrongly placed :— 1840.

The letter dated "Devonshire Terrace, Friday Morning," and printed on pp. 34-35, instead of coming between the two letters of December 21 and 22, 1840, and breaking their obvious sequence and continuity, should precede the former. It belongs presumably to the month of August: it refers at any rate to "the end of September" as yet to come :—"I want to see you about a frontispiece to our first 'Clock' volume, which will come out (I think) at the end of September."

This letter should be immediately followed by the one dated "Devonshire Terrace, Thursday, August 13," printed at page 47-48, and wrongly assigned to the year 1841. It belongs to the year 1840, as is evident, first, from the date, "Thursday, August 13," August 13 falling on Thursday in the year 1840, and on Friday in the year 1841 (see previous letter printed on page 46, and dated "Friday, August 6, 1841"); and, secondly, from the nature of the contents: "Will you turn your attention to a frontispiece for our first volume? The volume is not published until the end of September." The first volume of Master Humphrey's Clock, to which this refers, was published with a Preface dated "September, 1840." Vide supra, p. 17.

The second paragraph of "Narrative," on page 37, runs as follows: "The letter to Mr. George Cattermole (26th June) refers to a dinner given to Charles Dickens by the people of Edinburgh on his first visit to that city." No letter of this date, or containing any such reference, appears in the book.

1851.

In the "Narrative," under this date, page 241, it is stated: "This year he wrote and published The Haunted Man, which he had found himself unable to finish for the previous Christmas. It was the last of the 'Christmas Books.'"

In the "Narrative" of 1847 it is stated (page 170): "He decided to let this Christmas pass without a story and postponed the publication of The Haunted Man until the following year."

Again in the "Narrative" of 1848, page 185: "The autumn months were again spent at Broadstairs, where he wrote The Haunted Man, which was illustrated by Mr. Frank Stone, Mr. Leech, and others. . . . The letters to Mr. Stone on the subject of his illustrations to The Haunted Man are written from Brighton."

The Haunted Man was in fact published Christmas, 1848.

1853.

The undated and unsigned letter to Mr. Wills, printed p. 299 as the first of the letters of 1853, was evidently written late in the month of November, 1852. It refers to the arrangements for the forthcoming Christmas number and to "Mrs. Gaskell's ghost story," which "I have got this morning" but "not yet read." There is a note to Mrs. Gaskell accompanying a proof of this story, and dated "Dec. 1, 1852," printed at page 292.

MEMORANDA.

Narrative 1838, page 7, second paragraph.—“The letter which we give in this year to Mr. Justice Talfourd is, unfortunately, the only one we have been able to procure to that friend.” Three other letters to Talfourd are printed in Dr. Shelton Mackenzie’s Life of Dickens.

Letter to Douglas Jerrold, dated “Devonshire Terrace, May 3, 1843.”—Page 88, line 9.—“There were men there who made” runs in the original letter—“There were men there—your City aristocracy—who made,” &c. “Dismal features” (last words of the same paragraph) reads “dismal flatness” in the version of the letter printed by Mr. Blanchard Jerrold; but it would require reference to the original autograph to decide which is correct.

LETTERS OF C. D.

B. J. VERSION.

Page 88, last line but one —

“when the princess restores”

“where the Princess restores”

There is a final paragraph in the B. J. version, relating to domestic matters, which disappears in the collected Letters.

Letter to Douglas Jerrold, dated “Devonshire Terrace,” June 13, 1843.

Page 90, last line, “I should like to deprive.” The opening words of this sentence have slipped out. The B. J. version runs:—“If there were a fine day, I should like to deprive,” &c.

Page 91, after “public-spirited individual” (line 20) a humorous passage about Talfourd and Macready is omitted, as is a second paragraph of postscript alluding to Maclise.

Letter to Douglas Jerrold, dated “Household Words Office, March 6, 1856.”

“do battle with the love of lords.”

ib.—“bestow ourselves.”

“bestir ourselves.”

B. J. dates this letter “Sixth February, 1856.”

ADDITIONAL ERRATA IN SECOND VOLUME.

1862.

In the letter to Mr. Baylis, p. 179, five lines from bottom, "she had better attach her fernery." The reading of the autograph letter is not "better," but "best."

1868.

In the letter to Mr. Edward Bulwer Lytton Dickens, page 403—

Line 1, omit "ever."

Line 4, for "already" read "always."

Line 8, for "and do this" read "and to do it."

Six lines from bottom (last word of paragraph), for "men" read "Man."

Last line but three, first word, for "wearied" read "harassed." (See this letter as correctly printed in Forster's Life of Dickens.)

Page 422. Why should "Earl Russell," already so entitled in 1865 (see page 235), figure again in 1869, in the margin, as "The Lord John Russell?"

The letters to Mrs. Dallas and to Mr. S. L. Fildes, both dated "Jan. 16" (pp. 434-435), should precede the letter to Mr. W. H. Wills, dated "Jan. 23" (pp. 433-434).

MEMORANDA.

In a footnote (editorial) to page 350 it is stated that Mr. H. F. Chorley "was the well-known musical critic, and a dear and intimate friend of Charles Dickens and his family. We have no letters to him, Mr. Chorley having destroyed all his correspondence before his death." In the Autobiography, Memoir and Letters of Henry Fothergill Chorley, edited by H. G. Hewlett (Bentley, 1873), vol. ii., pp. 161-166, 229-236, are printed six letters from Charles Dickens to Chorley dated between the years 1860 and 1867.

Page 407. The "lady who prefers to be anonymous," authoress of the "remarkable story" called An Experience, appears to be a

Miss Jolly (see British Museum Catalogue). Her contributions to Houshold Words and All the Year Round were republished in three volumes in 1875, under the title of A Wife's Story and other Tales, with three letters from Charles Dickens, dated in 1855 and 1869, the last referring to this very story, "An Experience."

The letters in the above collection were addressed to the following correspondents, and bear the dates affixed:—

* The name of the correspondent to whom these two letters were addressed is, with somewhat superfluous mystery, suppressed in the Collected Letters (vol. ii., pp. 436-437). As, however, they were written to a contributor to All the Year Round, about to commence a long serial story in that journal, who had another story in progress in the Gentleman's Magazine and another announced in Once a Week,—complaining of haste and want of care, &c.,—it does not need a witch to solve the riddle. The novel of "Will he Escape? by Percy Fitzgerald," was appearing at that time in the Gentleman's Magazine, and "The Sword of Damocles, or Memoirs of a Successful Family, by Percy Fitzgerald," was announced during February and March to appear in Once a Week, and commenced in the number for April 9, 1870. The Doctor's Mixture commenced (anonymously) in All the Year Round, Saturday, June 4, 1870 (the week before Dickens's death), which it is to be hoped it did not accelerate. It was first announced in the number for April 30, 1870.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE WRITINGS OF CHARLES DICKENS, with many curious and interesting particulars relating to his Works. By James Cook. Paisley: J. & J. Cook, Printers and Publishers, 1879, pp. 80. London, F. Kerslake, 1879, with Appendix, pp. 88, in wrapper.

For the more recondite matters which give the chief if not the sole value to a compilation of this kind, the reader will search this bulky brochure in vain. Nor is the record of more commonly known and accessible details anywhere thoroughly reliable either as to accuracy or completeness. And the sins of commission are as great and grievous as the sins of omission. Mr. Cook's unwieldy pamphlet may be said to resemble a waste ground, with a notice-board attracting the passer's eyes and bearing the legend, "Rubbish shot here." What can it avail a bibliographer of Dickens to know or to tell how this or that piratical dunce or dullard published an imitation or a continuation of the Pickwick Papers, of Oliver Twist, of Nickleby, or of Dombey (pp. 50-51); how an obscure would-be artist issued a worthless series of catch-penny "extra illustrations (pp. 17, sqq.) now so rare as to fetch ten times their original price" from the pockets of collectors "more enviable for superfluity of cash than commendable for sufficiency of understanding;" how such and such inept or inane Grub-street garretters attempted to solve the Mystery of Edwin Drood without having first solved the mysteries of English orthography and syntax (p. 51); how Mr. So-and-so, the notorious West-end bookseller, foisted upon an unwary collector a made-up set of original editions, "elegantly bound by Pratt in his best manner," for five times their published price (pp. 48-49); or how Mr. This-or-that, his bibliopolic neighbour, administered a judicious and well-merited snubbing to the compiler by declining to answer an impertinent inquiry as to the names and addresses of private customers who had purchased sumptuously illustrated copies of Mr. Forster's Life of the novelist, and other curiosities (pp. 67, 72-73); or what were the titles of, and who were the contributors to, the Christmas numbers and "extra summer numbers" of the New Series of All the Year Round, under the conduct of Charles Dickens, junior (p. 60).

Mr. Cook's pamphlet is also disfigured by a considerable number of errata, which should be corrected in a future edition; e.g. inter alia :—

page 21, line 15, for "Lord Cockburn" read "Lord Jeffrey," and for "Thackeray and Cockburn" in the margin, read "Thackeray and Jeffrey."

page 26, line 6, for "Carlile" read "Carlyle."

page 29, line 28, for "Jan. 1, 1846," read "Jan. 21, 1846."

page 30, line 12, for "No. 6" read "No. 2."

page 31, line 9, and page 32, line 12, for "A Fly-leaf in Life" read "A Flyleaf in a Life."

- page 47, line 17, for "bibliomoniacs" read "bibliomaniacs."
 page 56, line 24, for "Ward, Locke & Tyler," read "Ward, Lock & Tyler."
 page 57, line 28, for "Explanations" read "Explanation."
 page 62, line 13, for "25th Jan." read "25th June."
 page 62, line 26, for "1865" read "1868."
 page 62, line 28, for "fac-similies" read "fac-similes."
